por Mayko Silva

Types of Trial Accounts

1 SAP BTP Trial

This free option is like a sample at a grocery store. It allows you to sign up for free and experiment with most BTP services, making it ideal for learning and exploration.

2 Enterprise Trial

Think of this as test-driving a luxury car. It's designed for large companies to evaluate how BTP would function within their specific business environment.

3 Free Tier Model

This "try before you buy" option allows you to build real applications. The best part? If you upgrade to the full version later, you can keep what you've created.

Commercial Models

Single-service Subscription

This model is for when you know exactly what you need, similar to buying a single tool from a toolbox instead of the entire set.

SAP BTP Enterprise Agreement

Designed for large-scale operations, this is like an all-access pass to a theme park. You pay upfront for comprehensive access to BTP services.

Pay-as-you-go

This flexible option allows you to pay only for what you use, much like your home electricity bill.

The beauty of these models is their flexibility. You can start with the free tier and upgrade as your needs grow, ensuring you find the perfect fit for your company.
